Camp Mak-A-Dream Celebrates Its 10th Anniversary and the Grand Opening of Its New Health Center

Celebrating our 10th Season of Serving Children and Young Adults with Cancer

This year marks Camp Mak-A-Dream's 10th Anniversary of offering a cost-free camp experience in Western Montana for children and young adults with cancer.

The dream of such a place began in the early 1990s by founders Harry and Sylvia Granader, residents of Detroit, Michigan, who also owned a working ranch in Gold Creek, Montana. After further planning, the formation of a board directors and establishment of nonprofit status as the Children's Oncology Camp Foundation, fund-raising efforts began to make this beautiful place into a camp for young people with cancer.

After years of hard work, the doors opened in 1995 with the first Camp session welcoming 46 campers, primarily from Montana and Michigan.

Now, ten years later, Camp Mak-A-Dream has expanded its cost-free programs to a year-round schedule serving children, teenagers and young adults with cancer, plus a week for siblings of cancer patients. We’ve now welcomed 1,676 patients from 42 different states.

Dear Friends,

Sylvia and I are amazed at how fast the last ten years have gone by and how much we have accomplished in that time.

Camp Mak-A-Dream was just that, a dream, back then. A little money, a lot of hope and a tremendous effort from volunteers and staff have made Camp a place where dreams really do come true.

To everyone who has helped with their time, their ideas, their money, their hopes, their dreams and most of all their hearts, we thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Fondly,
Harry & Sylvia Granader, Founders

A New Health Center

In the past year Camp Mak-A-Dream has seen the construction and opening of a new health center. Having this new building has been a seven-year-long dream, and to everyone who made this dream a reality, we owe a great deal of thanks.

As generous as Montana has been to Camp Mak-A-Dream on an annual basis, which is greatly appreciated and much needed, it was our desire from the very beginning of the initial fund-raising effort that the majority of the $81.2 million for this project would come from outside Montana. Certainly that was not going to be an easy task, but since a large percentage of participants come from other states across the country, we felt we had good reason to attempt a national campaign.

With a grant from the M.J. Murdock Charitable Trust, a fund-raising campaign from the National Auto Body Council, a grant from Ronald McDonald House Charities and a grant from the Cadeau Foundation, 90 percent of the project budget came from outside Montana. Locally, the Swanson Family Foundation and the Dennis and Phyllis Washington Foundation completed the money needed. With the generosity and dedication of OZ Architects and Quality Construction, we have a building that serves our needs now and long into the future.

This new health center is something to be proud of not only for our foundation, but for every one of us who live in Montana as well. It is a representation of what is so very, very good about this great state. Camp Mak-A-Dream is cost free to all the children, teenagers and young adults with cancer who attend any of the six sessions offered each year, and that is largely due to the generosity of the people of Montana.

If you know someone with cancer, please pass along this newsletter to him or her – or invite that person to contact us for more information. Applications for all Camp sessions are also available on our Web site at www.campdream.org.

"Camp Mak-A-Dream...a beautiful place for those battling cancer to come together and laugh, love, share, cry and heal. Those of us who were privileged to be part of the creation and development of Camp will be forever blessed. I pray there will be many, many more years and many more children, young adults and adults who come together and experience its wonder. Happy 10th Birthday Camp Mak-A-Dream!"
Connie Hanson, Nurse & Camp Director, 1995-1999

"Having been born and raised in Gold Creek, Montana, I am very proud of your Camp and what you do for children, so I am pleased to make a donation. I'm only sorry Camp wasn't there when my daughter had cancer as a teenager. However, she did have the opportunity to enjoy the Camp as a volunteer in the opening session in 1993. Keep up the good work!"

GRAND OPENING of New Health Center

After many years of planning, a brand-new, state-of-the-art health center building has opened at Camp Mak-A-Dream. From the outside, the building looks warm and inviting, a feeling that continues on the inside with bright colors and wide-open spaces – just what visitors might expect in Montana. But beyond its first impression, this is a medical facility expressly designed for the special guests who attend Camp Mak-A-Dream. The building was designed with our campers in mind. If a camper needs to stay overnight in the health center, the room is located on the perimeter of the building with large windows that provide a panoramic view of Camp and the surrounding Montana mountains. The rooms are equipped with call buttons and are all easily accessible from the nurses’ station or the nurse call room. There is an isolation room equipped with special filtered airflow to keep germs away, so that even the most vulnerable camper is safe. People undergoing cancer therapy are prone to infections because the immune system of the body is damaged by chemotherapy and radiation therapy. Our goal is to provide a safe environment, but to keep the medical part of Camp separate and non-intrusive from the fun part of Camp. This new health center affords us the ability to provide state-of-the-art medical care to a special population: children and young adults undergoing cancer therapy. Many of our participants would not be able to take part in a camp experience and to have a week of relative normalcy in their lives if a facility such as this did not exist. And in the rare times that Camp must be interrupted for a medical procedure, the health center is warm, inviting and friendly.

FRIENDS OF CAMP MAK-A-DREAM

Michigan Chapter

Dear Friends,

I look forward to my second year as president of the Friends of Camp Mak-A-Dream, Michigan chapter. The year 2003 brought us many changes. We now have an executive director, Lauren Altman, and our own offices, plus two new board members, Connie Jacobs and Dan Cady, who bring fresh enthusiasm and energy to our board. Our fund-raising efforts were very successful as well, and I hope 2004 will bring even greater accomplishments.

On March 18 the Michigan chapter held a dinner both honoring the camp founders, Harry and Sylvia Granader, and celebrating Camp Mak-A-Dream’s 10th Anniversary. As always, I’m already looking forward to my annual trip to Montana in July, and this year I also look forward to meeting the new board president, Wayne Hiet.

Fondly,
Heidar Granader

President's Message

Dear Friends and Supporters of Camp Mak-A-Dream,

Another year is upon us and spring, I hope, is nearly here. What has been accomplished in the past 10 years is truly amazing! Without the financial assistance from contributors, the efforts of a dedicated staff, countless hours from volunteers and some loyal board members, there would be no Camp Mak-A-Dream.

On behalf of all the children, teens and young adults who have graced us with their presence, thank you for your past support and please help us to continue offering this wonderful and healing experience to those who have been touched by cancer.

Sincerely,
Wayne R. Hett, CPA
President, Board of Directors

Thoughts from a Dad

When you think about someone being a hero, words like courage and bravery come to mind. Webster’s New World Dictionary gives an alternative definition: a person admitted for his or her qualities or achievements and regarded as an ideal model. This surely defines how I feel about my daughter Samantha.

Samantha was a model for anyone battling cancer; her courage, her trust in others, and her willingness to help others were simply remarkable. She never gave up. She wanted to be in treatment because she knew it was a means for her to get better. She had an incredible way of looking at her situation.

“Dad,” Samantha said to me, “if someone came to me right now and told me that I could choose between never having cancer and living a normal life for the last four years, or having cancer as I do, but being given a guarantee that all of this is over, no more CT Scans, no more treatments…I would choose to live the life that I have lived. I know so much more than the average person my age. I have met so many people who are important to me. And I know what is really important in life.”

There is no doubt in my mind that the campers and staff at Sam met at Camp Mák-A-Dream would be on the top of her list of “people who are important to me.” Just before coming to Camp last summer, Sam’s doctor told her she was too sick to go. Sam told him, “But I have to be able to go.” He did everything he could for the next two days, and she got on the plane. When we picked her up at the airport a week later, she proudly proclaimed, “Only 360 days until the next camp.”

Thank you for making those three wonderful camps (2001-2003) possible for Samantha.

Joe Leaham, Samantha’s Dad

Winter 2004 Young Adult Conference

"Thank you for allowing me to attend your Young Adult Conference (YAC). I thoroughly enjoyed my experience at Camp and learned so much from the seminars. I also had fun during the free-time events and loved being in Montana - it's truly a beautiful state. This was an experience that I shall remember for many years to come."

Richard, YAC Participant

A fabulous group of courageous young adults set a tone of strength and wit in January at our annual Winter Young Adult Conference. Twenty-seven participants from 14 different states and British Columbia, Canada, spent a week together in a comfortable and welcoming setting. Much of the volunteer staff was returning helpers, all of whom are sincerely appreciated and greatly respected for their committed volunteerism. This conference allowed the Children's Oncology Foundation the chance for a smooth transition between four-year Camp Director, Kristie Scheel, and myself. Most definitely this was a genuine learning experience, all of which aids in guaranteeing superb programming in the future. It especially promotes the ability of adhering to traditions and themes previously established as being at the forefront and heart of Camp Mak-A-Dream atmosphere.

Participants left with lifted spirits, grateful knowledge and ever-expanding friendships. Joy and the anticipation of healing through an everlasting network of support had been established among another cohort of cancer survivors!

Sincerely,
Daren Medcraft

Thank you for your valuable time...

I have something that is important to me, and I would like to share it with you. I am not asking you to donate money to anything. Yes, this is a form letter, and I am sending it to many people. The purpose of this letter is to share something that has touched my heart and has made a huge impact on my life.

As both a young adult conqueror of cancer and the only sibling of a teenage cancer victim, I reach out to you in this succinct telling of my cancer and cancer camp experience at Camp Mak-A-Dream.

In the same week in January of 1998, shortly after I finished my first semester of college, my only sibling, Kelly, and I were both diagnosed with different and unrelated rare forms of cancer, which predominantly occur in people much later in their lives. Our friends, relatives, community, and churches that knew us reached out in so many ways and did so much for our family.

Kelly, who was then 15, and I went through treatment at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. I went through four cycles of chemotherapy and 38 treatments of radiation. Kelly received a bone marrow transplant but, despite my being a perfect HLA match, I was not able to be her donor due to my own illness. She received marrow from a matched unrelated donor. Because of problems caused by her transplant, she contracted and succumbed to pneumonia early in the morning of July 15, 1998, just two days after I finished my treatment and gained my remission. I appear to have beaten my cancer and, aside from a few side effects of my treatment, I have been doing very well.

This past Christmas, the greatest gift I received was not anything that I wanted nor would have ever thought could touch me as it did. It was a small present given to our family that was big because it really re-framed how I will think of presents for the rest of my life. I really began to think of how so many who reach out to help others, and I have never really done much of anything besides a warm smile and a kind word to help anyone. It made me want to reach out to help others.

This is why I decided to write this letter to you. One of the greatest experiences in my life was Camp Mak-A-Dream. It was there that I was really able to connect to my true peers and talk to so many that also had a history of cancer in their lives. It was through them that I was able to see cancer as not one of the worst things that ever happened to me, but one of the best. Yes, cancer is one of the most wonderful things to have ever happened to me. It sounds strange, I know. I never would have reached the place where I could see things the way I do now without my experience at camp. It was through meeting people who have been through what I had been through and were much stronger and more optimistic than myself that enabled me to see life as the precious thing that I see it as today. I would like to help as many childhood cancer patients and survivors as possible to receive the gift that I received at Camp Mak-A-Dream, and I am offering you the chance to help them, too.

Maybe when you are allocating your money for donations to various charities you will think of this and give to this most noble of charities, and in turn your heart can be touched by knowing how people are touched through it.

Again, thank you for your valuable time.

Sincerely,

Patrick Bolish
